MANY HURT IN ALABAMA WRECK

Three Passenger Coaches Plunge Down Steep Bank, Killing 12 and Injuring Many in Wreckage

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 13.—Twelve persons were killed and more than a hundred injured, some of them fatally, today when three coaches of a General of Georgia passenger train left the rails at a point seventeen miles south of here and plunged down a steep embankment. The train which consisted of five cars crowded with excursionists, was enroute from Ozark, Ala., to Atlanta, where a fair is being held. The identified dead are:

The Dead
Pump Paine, aged 60, superintendent of the Harbour county poor house at Clayton.
Monroe, Floyd, aged 60, Clayton.
Miss Bonnie Brock, aged 18, Cllo.
Mrs. Laura Wilkinson, Cllo.
Mrs. W. J. Bur McKinley, Cllo.
Child of J. F. Brock, Cllo.
Mrs. Alta Adams, Cllo.
Jennie Fryer, negro, Cllo.
Maud MacRae, negress, Cllo.
Zach Peak, Clayton.

Among those who escaped with minor injuries was Jefferson D. Clayton, a wealthy Alabamian, and brother of Congressman Henry D. Clayton of this state.

Dead Cars Leave Track
As the crowded excursion train rounded a curve, the three cars at the rear, literally packed with passengers, suddenly left the track and breaking away from the others, rolled down the steep embankment. The coaches practically were demolished, shreds and scraps of the injured rose above the wreckage. Word of the wreck quickly reached Clayton, Ala., three miles

HUERTA AGREES TO CONCESSIONS

Urgent Appeal Made to Washington to Withhold Action.—Will Resign from Presidency Before New Congress

City of Mexico, Nov. 13.—Members of President Huerta's official family are working diligently for the re-announcing of the negotiations and claim to have the consent of General Huerta to make concessions which they believe will be satisfactory to the U. S. The Mexican ministers of the Interior, Manuel Garcia Aldapa, saw Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American chargé d'affaires late today and appealed to him to do all in his power to induce his government to withhold action until the Mexican officials could communicate with Mr. Lind, now at Vera Cruz. He based his appeal on the allegation that they were able yesterday to get in touch with General Huerta in order to present him Mr. Lind's communication. It is believed that General Huerta through his counselors proposes to present a plan something in the nature of a substitute. He is said to be reconciled to the idea of resigning from the presidency but wants to submit his resignation to the new congress. The body which President Wilson through Mr. Lind, has declared must not convene.

Huerta's friends in those in his cabinet who are attempting to induce him to yield, have been informed that there are certain measures congress might adopt to which the United States would be unilaterally opposed and that if any plan devised by them by them involves the conveying of congress it would be well to sign papers in which should be set forth, exactly what measures this new law making body expects to pass upon and see to it that such measures are objectionable are excluded.

UNABLE TO SEND BATTLESHIPS

To This Port on the Visit of the National Grange on Nov. 21.

F. W. Hartford, editor of the Herald, received word from Senator Jacob H. Gallinger this morning that the navy department was unable to order one or two battleships to Portsmouth on Nov. 21, on the occasion of the visit of the National Grange to this city. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt writes Senator Gallinger in reference to the matter, "that all of the battleships of the Atlantic fleet not under repair will in all probability be absent from the United States at that time."

At that time nearly all of the destroyers of the Atlantic fleet will be under overhaul at their navy yards and the few not so occupied will be under orders to Pensacola, Florida, or actually en route there, for exercises which cannot be deferred. Therefore, it is also impossible to send any destroyers to Portsmouth, as suggested by Mr. Hartford.

Newspaper Advertising Brings the Dollars!

All advertising is good but some is better than others. Newspaper advertising is best of all because it brings the best immediate results for the least expenditure of money.

People regard the newspaper paper as timely.

An advertisement in a newspaper suggests quick action and generally brings it.

Manufacturers are finding the newspaper the best gateway to immediate results.

It is a two-edged weapon for sales victory. It stimulates both the consumer and the local dealer.

People believe in newspapers, believe in dealers who advertise in newspapers, and believe in manufactured products brought to their attention through the advertising columns of local newspapers.

WORST DISASTER IN HISTORY

Of Michigan's Maritime Existence—150 Lives Lost and Millions of Damage.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 13.—Does another vessel lie beneath the wreck of the overturned vessel in Lake Huron, thirteen miles from here?

This is the theory advanced by Milton Smith, assistant engineer of the ill-fated steamer Charles S. Price. Mr. Smith had a premonition of the approaching danger and left his ship at Cleveland the day before it rode into the teeth of Lake Huron's gale and foundered with all hands on board.

His theory is strengthened by the fact that the bodies of the men who went down on the Regina and the Price were found in precisely the same position on the shore, some of them even clasped in each other's arms. This substantiates the belief that the overturned vessel on Lake Huron is either the Regina or the Price. It is also thought that the vessels collided with such force that one of them is either weighed down beneath the other or sunk completely from sight.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 13.—Each hour today added to the toll of disaster which occurred on Lake Huron during last Sunday's storm and tonight the end was not in sight. Bodies of sailors of five and perhaps six vessels were found on the shore of the lake; wreckage from two other boats still missing was cast up by the sea, and no trace had been secured of two vessels or their crews, totalling more than 40 men.

Never in the history of Michigan's maritime existence has Lake Huron been the scene of such a succession of catastrophes. A conservative estimate of the loss of life fixes the total at not less than 150. The damage to vessels and cargoes will be several millions of dollars.

Lying in various morgues along the Canadian shores are the bodies of sailors of the steamers James Garru, then, Regina, John A. McGinn, Wexford and Charles S. Price. It is practically certain that these vessels were down with all on board. There are also a number of bodies unidentified. Perhaps there were sailors on the unidentified freighter which lies bottom up in Lake Huron, 13 miles north of here. Many still think that she is the Regina—others cling to the theory that she collided with the Regina and the latter sank.

Shore Strawn With Wreckage
Wreckage of the steamers Argue and Hydrush have been cast ashore. Neither boat has been heard from. The Scott is also missing. Marine men said today that there was a possibility of one or both of these boats being safe. None of their wreckage has been found. No bodies of their sailors have been washed ashore. This afternoon word was received from

ELIOT.

The new law on apples is creating quite an excitement about town and with the men who are shipping and under the new law all apples must be inspected before they can be shipped or sold in any way out of the State of Maine.

Melville McIntire, State Inspector has been busy for the past week or ten days about town and at the railroad station looking after New Hampshire parties who are shipping from this point.

This law seems large, and perhaps foolish to many, but when once understood will be a benefit to fruit growers, as they will get better prices for their fruit, after having been stamped by the Inspector. The parties who are handling apples will know there is no chance for putting in fruit that is not marketable, which has been done too much and this is what has brought this law about.

Where apples are faced on both ends and the middle of the barrel in some thing different it does not take long to pass it around among dealers, and these people wonder why there is no sale. Good stock will always sell and no question about it. Many people get the idea that the Inspector is around to make trouble for them, but not so. He is around to help them to show how they should pack their apples so as to bring about money for them and at the same time they will realize the fact.

Captain Glasgow, U. S. N., Commanding officer at the Portsmouth harbor forts, left on Thursday with his family on a three month leave of absence which he will pass at his home in New Jersey.

JUST A LITTLE SORE OVER DEFEAT

New York, Nov. 13.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the British professional golfers, who, during the last three months, have played matches throughout the United States, sailed for home today on the steamship Celtic. Speaking of American amateur golfers Vardon said:

"We have met the best players America had to produce and Chick Evans of Chicago is as good a player as I have ever seen. Outmet of Massachusetts is the champion, of course, but while he is a wonderful player, I don't think he would have an easy time in Great Britain, as our courses there are more difficult than those we played on here."

BIG BURNING OF OPIUM

Boston, Nov. 13.—In pursuance to the terms of the law, customs officials, this forenoon, consigned to the flames of the furnace in the basement of the Appraisers' Store, on State street, a large quantity of opium the accumulation of various seizures made by the customs' inspectors of Surveyor of Port Edward G. Graves' staff in the past 11 months. Both are pared and crude opium of a market value to the Chinamen from it was seized of between $40,000 and $45,000 were destroyed.

The opium was burned in the presence of Surveyor of the Port Graves, Deputy Surveyor Mann, Deputy Collector Darling and Customs Inspectors McKenna and Sleep. It was seized by Inspectors Sleep and McKenna.

Since the opium was seized it had been stored in the cellar of the Customs house on Tremont street whence it was taken in a customs truck. The funny shaped packages in the load, which filled the big truck, caused people to gaze in wonder.

In the load, besides the crude opium prepared opium, "pills" and gum, there were 22 pipes, valued at from $25 to $100 apiece; 13 lamps, 54 bowls, 14 "yen hooks" and scrapers and 3 scales. On the way a stop was made at the district attorney's office to take a lot of outfit seized in a recent raid.

The whole load was dumped into the fire, pipes, bowls, yen hooks and all, and more opium was sent up in smoke in a few minutes than would be smoked in Chinatown in a month.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

When Cross, Constipated or if Feverish Give California Syrup of Figs Then Don't Worry

Mother can rest easy after giving California Syrup of Figs, because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious fruit laxative. Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember a gentle inside cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of California Syrup of Figs, then look carefully and see that it is made by the California Fig Syrup Company. We make no smaller sized brand back with contempt and other fig syrup.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother insisted on giving me the definition when I wanted to know it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question. Among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage they might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterward, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'unabridged' of these days. Now the most modern unabridged—THE NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same kind. As far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the unabridged dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to have, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. CITY COUNCIL HAVE
A QUIET SESSIONDo Not Touch South Pond or Water
Meter Matters--Refuse to Fix Salaries for Police Commissioners.

A meeting of the Mayor and Council was held on Thursday evening, and the most of the time was taken up disposing of business that should have been transacted at the last meeting, but was shut out by the haste of the Council to adjourn.

Thursday evening there was hard work securing a quorum, but finally Councilman Cox came in and with Councilmen Bennett, Duncan, Pinkham and Clark made a quorum. They adjourned to the mayor's office where there was a discussion of thirty minutes on the South Pond matter, but it was not brought up later in the meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock and the usual assortment of petitions were all granted.

Councilman Duncan for the Committee on Fire Department, reported on the repairs made to the Kearsarge Engine, which in his opinion makes the engine today even better than when new. The boiler now carries 125 pounds of steam against 80 on the old engine. The great need of new suction pipe was noted. The present pipe being 30 years old. He stated that engine No. 2 was now in the machine shop, and would have a new boiler. The contractor reported the boiler in very bad condition. They sent a section to illustrate and in places it had worn down to paper thickness, being absolutely dangerous. The present boiler is over 20 years old, and Sagamore Engine No. 1 is even older. The report was accepted.

T. M. Dolan was granted a license to maintain two pool tables, in connection with his cigar store on Congress street.

The Mayor's veto on the police commission bill was taken from the table and sustained. Councilman Pinkham called for his resolution which makes the salaries $75 a year for members and $150 a year for the clerk, from the table, and he moved its passage. Councilman Bennett opposed the figures fixed for salary, and Councilman Duncan thought $109 enough for the clerk. The resolution was defeated on a ye and nay vote. Councilmen Duncan, Bennett and Cox voting the negative and Councilmen Pinkham and Clark in the affirmative.

Councilman Pinkham gave notice of a resolution, he would introduce a provide weekly payment for the city laborers instead of semi-monthly.

A report of the Board of Public Works that it would cost $500 to lay the sewer on Park and Mendum avenues, and that the Board did not have the money available, was read and accepted but no action taken toward providing the money.

Auditor Murray called the attention of the Council to the fact that the overseer of the Poor's appropriation was practically exhausted, and that about $500 more was required. He stated that the expenditures this year had been greater than previous years. The matter was left over for the next meeting when the funds will be provided. The Auditor said that at the present time there was no balance from which that sum could be transferred.

The quarterly report of the Board of Public Works, which was ready at the last meeting was read. In conclusion the Board stated that for a financial statement they would refer to the Council to the Auditor's monthly report.

The Auditor's report and the pay roll warrant were approved. Adjourned to Dec. 4th.

City Auditor Murray will no longer trust to placing his monthly financial statement in the Councilmen's desk, but last evening had the October report on the top of their desk. Councilman Adams at the last meeting made a fuss that the Council did not have a monthly financial statement. Auditor Murray did not make any reply, simply referred the Councilmen to their desk, where every month since he has been in office he has placed a printed monthly statement, showing the expenditures and unexpended balance for each appropriation. The joke was on the Councilmen for the monthly statements have always been available.

WOULD GIVE THEM CITIZENSHIP

Washington, Nov. 13.—In a final conference with Governor Arthur Yager, who leaves Saturday for his new post as head of the Porto Rican government, Secretary Garrison announced that he was in favor of granting citizenship to the people of the island, within limitations which he has not yet determined. The Secretary made it plain, however, that he was expressing only his own views and did not know President Wilson's position. George F. Colton, the retiring governor of Porto Rico, and Brigadier General Frank McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, were present at the conference.

Representatives of the Porto Rican sugar interests called at the War Department and told Secretary Garrison that the new tariff bill with its provisions for free sugar within three years would work grave injury to the island's sugar industry. The Secretary told them that he had no authority to act in the matter but would lay their protest before Congress if they presented it in formal shape.

WON A RACE AT YORK BEACH

Mr. Burton's fast mare, Miss McClure, won a race at York Beach on Wednesday afternoon in which there were four horses entered. They were all good horses, but the Portsmouth mare had a little on them all. Red Popper, a fine horse owned in York, made a great race and won two heats, five being necessary to decide. These two horses have now been matched for a third race.

To prevent disease--
resist disease germs

SMALLPOX is prevented by vaccination — the injection of vaccine. DIPHTHERIA is prevented by the injection of anti-toxin. These enable the body to produce substances which prevent the growth of smallpox and diphtheria germs in the blood. There are many other diseases, nearly, if not quite as dangerous, and far more common — typhoid fever, the grippe, bronchitis, pneumonia, catarrh, rheumatism, and a score of others — that can be prevented less painfully and more easily by making the body strong to resist germ infection.

Rexall

Olive Oil Emulsion
(With Hypophosphites)

Is designed for the prevention as well as the relief of disease — by enabling the body to overcome the germs. It, at the same time, strengthens and tones the nerves, nourishes the blood, puts the entire system into a proper healthy condition to combat and successfully resist disease.

Every person not in perfect health has incipient germs of some distressing ailment in his or her system.

Cold weather, over-work, excesses of any kind, are liable to bring about just the conditions under which these latent disease germs will get the upper hand, and put you on your back "down sick."

You who are run-down, tired-out, nervous — You who, though not sick enough to give up, still don't feel good —

You who are apparently well, and want to stay well — Take home a bottle of Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and use it as a means to get well and keep well.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is a real nerve-food tonic.

In this it is different from most other so-called "tonics" which either have no food value and do nothing more than temporarily stimulate you, leaving you in a worse condition than before or, having food value, still are so unpleasant to take that many people can't keep them down.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is pleasant to take. The Hypophosphites it contains tone the nerves. The pure Olive Oil nourishes both nerves and blood.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion strengthens you, puts snap and ginger and vitality into your system. It makes you feel better and stronger. It improves your digestion and your bowel action.

It contains no alcohol nor any dangerous or habit forming drugs.

It is guaranteed to be just as represented above — to do all that is claimed above — to satisfy you in every way, or your money back without quibble or question. Enough for full two weeks' treatment, $1.00.

Sold only at The Rexall Stores — the World's greatest Drug Stores — and always with a full guarantee of complete satisfaction, or your money back.

The Deadly Revolver.

We are a nation of gun carriers. More murders in proportion to population are committed among us than in almost any civilized country of the world. There is an obvious relation between these two facts. The revolver is manufactured primarily for the function of man killing. It is not used as a hunting weapon, nor is it much used for target shooting. There are 66 factories in this country, turning out something like four million man killers annually. These are sold almost everywhere freely and without legal restrictions. Boy or man, maniac or drunkard, crook or honest citizen may buy himself a revolver without difficulty, and may "tote" it with him to be drawn and used whenever it seems desirable to him. The man with a gussy temper, which gets quickly out of hand, is more likely to have artillery on his person than the even-tempered, self-controlled man. The man addicted to liquor and not sure of himself is more likely to have a deadly weapon upon him than the sober, sane citizen. Of course, self-defense is the ready excuse of the gun toter. He needs the revolver to defend himself against some sudden adversary who may attack him. In a primitive society this might be a good excuse, but in ours it makes for murder. For the defense of the home against burglars and other intruders, the revolver is doubtless a justifiable resource. But it should remain in the home, and not transported about the streets in the pocket of its owner. The sale of revolvers should be rigorously restricted. Gun toting should be made a serious offence, and those convicted of it should be punished severely. Only by measures of this sort provided by state legislatures and enforced by the authorities can crimes of violence be reduced to a more normal ratio.—Haverhill Gazette.

A Tip to New Englanders.

A friend writing from California says the climate is magnificent, but in many other ways the state is greatly overestimated by eastern people. California people themselves have issued a warning that when the exposition starts it will be idle for a horde of workers to rush upon the state for jobs, as they have enough superfluous workers now to pretty nearly take up all the jobs there will be. There are many eastern people there who spent all their money getting there and getting a house and in readiness for work, and who are still looking for steady jobs and living nobody but themselves knows how. Where the climate is soft and life on the surface looks easy there is generally the handicap of too few jobs or too little pay, or something else to strike a balance for the bounties of nature. Our advice to everybody who decides to go west or south is to buy a return ticket and use it before the last money is gone, too. The cash may be useful in making the return journey bearable and in establishing one's self after he gets back to the old home scenes once more. New England has its drawbacks but the walking from place to place can be made in short journeys, and there are lots of jobs and most of them pay pretty well.—Brockton Enterprise.

Many persons from New England who have gone to the West coast have not found things so rosy as pictured and in many instances would be glad to be back in good old New England, providing they had the price to get back. The advice to those contemplating locating on the Pacific slope or in the South, to purchase a return ticket is very timely and sensible.

Should Be Stopped.

In the district court this morning Judge Torrey took occasion to hand out a severe reprimand to a young man from the Creek district charged with assault. Not only was the reprimand directed to the young man, but to his associates who have been in the habit of making life miserable for people in that section for some time past. It has been the habit of a gang of young men, old enough to know better, to congregate on Islington street between the Gale shoe factory and Bartlett street and annoy pedestrians in all conceivable ways. The police have had numerous complaints and have endeavored to stop the annoyance, but when the officer was on the other end of the beat the offenders would be as busy as ever. Judge Torrey made it plain that if any more of this gang are brought before him they would be severely dealt with and it is to be hoped that he will take the necessary steps to break up this form of annoyance which has existed altogether too long.

HOUSTON TALKS TO GRANGERS

Sixth and Seventh Degrees
Conferred on Thousands at Manchester.

Secretary of Agriculture David F. Houston will be the guest of the National Grange in Manchester today. Uncle Sam's boss farmer will arrive here at noon and it is expected that he will speak at both the Auditorium and Mechanics' Hall assemblies of Patrons during the afternoon sessions. Governor Feltner will probably accompany him here and he will be received by the national officers and State Master Richard Patten.

The business session of the convention will be resumed in Mechanics' Hall at ten today, with National Master Wilson of Illinois presiding. At 12:30 the sixth degree for New Hampshire Patrons will be worked in the convention hall. During the afternoon the seventh degree for New Hampshire Patrons will be exemplified in the Auditorium theatre. This will be the first time that the degree will be conferred on those living at a distance.

The number taking the seventh degree in this city yesterday was not by the national officers at 2375, while 615 took the sixth degree at the afternoon session in Mechanics' Hall to say nothing of another 149 (among that received like honors in the evening. Three thousand will take the seventh degree today.

Last night Secretary C. M. Freeman of the National Grange received a wife from Congressman Barthel of Ohio who accepted the invitation extended to address the convention on rural credit Saturday evening. United States Senator Poinsett telegraphed that a previous engagement would prevent his coming on a like mission.

The seventh degree will be worked for local Patrons and those who may make home examinations following the meeting in the Auditorium in the evening. Mayor Charles C. Hayes will be among those taking the degree.

Confers With Governor

Before reaching this city today when his speech will feature the proceedings of the convention of the National Grange, Secretary of Agriculture David Franklin Houston will hold the conference at Concord with Governor Feltner. Their meeting will have to do with matters of the greatest importance to this state.

It involves discussion concerning the continued control and supervision of the White Mountain reservation by the federal government and will touch upon matters wherein the administration will be asked to assist financially in the promotion of agriculture in this state.

Concerning the conference, Governor Feltner says:

"It is true that Secretary of Agriculture Houston and myself will hold a conference at the state capital tomorrow. He will arrive during the morning and I believe that the outcome of the meeting will result in much that he will be able to do for us in the way of promoting agriculture here."

Directly following the conference, the secretary will come to Manchester to deliver his address.

Rev. J. Franklin Bath of Haverhill, Mass., delivered an address before the candidates for degrees yesterday.

Special Trains Arrive

Additional thousands were here yesterday to witness and take part in degree work in connection with the convention of the National Grange. Special trains from Boston and Worcester brought more than 1000 candidates for the seventh degree, and thousands as well poured in from New England states. The Massachusetts delegations were in charge of State Master Charles M. Gardner of Westfield, State Lecturer Eben F. Richardson of Mills, Treasurer R. A. Harrington of Worcester and Secretary William N. Hayward of North Easton.

On account of the great number on hand to take the degree the first assembly of the out-of-state patrons was called together in the Auditorium theatre at 12:30. State Master Richard Patten of Tacoma and his officers, enacting the ceremony. The degree work was completed on other classes at the Auditorium at 5 and at 8 p. m. More than 6000 patrons were elevated to this degree during the day.

At 12:30 Governor Adams and his suite worked the sixth degree on a large number of patrons in Mechanics' Hall. The degree was repeated at 5 last evening in the same hall.

Minister Creates Stir

The address of Rev. J. Franklin of Haverhill, Mass., given before the candidates for degrees yesterday afternoon, brought forth widespread comment, since he scored both men and women, particularly the latter and declared he was glad he was a man. He said in part:

"Development is not dependent on sex. The student of men and affairs does not recognize sex, save as an incident in life."

"There are certain differences in the attitude of men and women; many of them caused by false views of sex relation, some fundamental and far-reaching."

"For instance, a woman senses more than she can reason out. A man often times reasons without much sense. A woman remembers when she ought to forget, and a man forgets when he ought to remember."

CURRENT OPINION

On the Farm
Immigrant Is Offered
Biggest Opportunity

Cities will always be required in the economy of nations. But the crowding of vast numbers of peoples into small areas was never required. It was not asked of us to deprive people of God's sunlight and air, which is in the breath of life.

There will be a terrible reckoning for our overrated industrialism and trade when they will be asked to answer for the terrible blight they have imposed on the lives of the peoples who have withered away in the horrible dens of our cities. They will be asked to explain the cramped, corded lives they have enforced on those who did their bidding. They will be required to atone for the stunted limbs, the pale cheeks, the prematurely aged and blasted lives and hopes of millions of God's creatures.

American liberty and opportunity are bought at the price of the immigrant's lungs. It is the price he must pay for his tenement and the opportunity to eke out a miserable existence.

It is my belief, and in that belief I have persisted, that by prevailing upon some families now dwelling in these ghettos to dwell on the farms we may be able to create a landward tide that will be in time a matter of some moment. If America has missed opportunity to the American farm of today is that opportunity.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf of the Konegith Israel Synagogue, Philadelphia.

"With a woman every last word is the beginning of a new sentence. The feminine world is a continuous performance. It never ends."

"A man loves to be 'mothered' with, and being mothered. The problem of how to do this has interested women since Adam cut his first tooth."

Laughs in Her Heart

"A woman oftentimes echoes what a man says that she may flatter him, and relieve her mind at the same time. She says yes, and laughs at him in her heart."

"When Adam ate the apple core, and you may be sure he ate it, the seeds of trouble were planted in his heart. That is why the shorter way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

"A man is half hog and half man. When he is not kicking he is grunting; when he is not grunting he is kicking; he is busy all the time."

"A woman is half cat and half angel. When she is not flying a man to heights celestial, she is scratching someone's eyes out. She is busy all the time."

"There are moments when I am thankful that I am a man."

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know

Almost everyone knows that Sage and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre of the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Remedy. You will get a large bottle for 50 cents. Everybody uses this famous old recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

RESCUER WORN OUT; GIRL DROWNS

Lowell Man Struggles Until Exhausted to Save Her After Leap Into Canal

Lowell, November, 13.—An untold tale of a girl about 22 years of age, and thought to be an alien this morning jumped into the canal at Pawtucket and Moody streets and was drowned. Lather Hall, employed in a garage, was nearly drowned in attempting to rescue her.

Hall jumped from the bridge and after a series of dives, reached the drowning girl. He brought her to the surface and struggled to keep her afloat.

In the meantime a man named Robb, Little and A. H. LeBlanc came to the aid. The two threw a rope to the rescuer and with it tried to tow him and the girl in the bank, but LeBlanc proved too weak for the task and lost his hold on the rope.

The girl by that time apparently pent, struggled to be saved. She clutched Hall so tightly that she repeatedly pushed him under the water. For 15 minutes or more he struggled with her, and then was obliged to release his hold, and she immediately sank.

Hall reached the bank of the canal so exhausted that he became unconscious. He was taken to the Lowell Hospital where he was revived.

GRAFFORT CLUB PROGRAM.

One of Unusual Interest Arranged for the Coming Season.

The program of the Graffort Club as mapped out for the coming year promises to be of unusual interest and profit. Among the attractions is the lecture by Mrs. Ruth Butts Carson, who comes to the Club next Wednesday, November 19, with the subject, "Fashion in the Light of Art (Color in Dress)." This talk is to be illustrated with pictures and flowers. Mrs. Carson is an artist and traveler, recently returned from a five years' sojourn in Europe, and has some very original and interesting ideas on the subject of dress.

On the afternoon of Dec. 3, at 4 o'clock, Dr. Channing J. Hawkins of Jamaica Plain gives his lecture, "Bright Eyes and Wild Hearts of Our Northern Woods," illustrated with a set of remarkable stereoscopic pictures. At the next meeting, Dec. 17, the speaker will be Dr. Woods Hutchins, so well known through the columns of popular periodicals and in great demand as a public speaker. "Nerves, Ancient and Modern," is the subject chosen for this meeting.

On the evening of Jan. 7, the Club is looking forward to an entertainment of unusual excellence. At this meeting the Misses Dorothy, Rosalind and Cynthia Fuller of Haverhill, England, will give a recital of English and Scottish folk-songs, accompanied on the Irish harp.

Jan. 28 will be children's day. Miss Ber Myer, who gave the Club a most will have for her subject at this time, "The Little Indian."

Feb. 18, Melville C. Freeman lectures on books and reading. His subject is "The Inspiration of Books." Mr. Freeman is a fascinating speaker and will deliver this interesting subject most ably.

March 18, there will be an afternoon musicale. Miss Marguerite McIntosh, a former member of the Graffort Club, and well known in Portsmouth as a soprano singer, will give the program.

April 29, Mrs. Morrill Hamlin will talk on current events. Mrs. Hamlin is the daughter of the late Hon. Lot Morrill, U. S. senator from Maine. Her long residence in Washington and acquaintance with politicians and diplomats have especially fitted her to deal with this subject.

While other meetings of the Club are for members only, these meetings are held in Association hall and open to the public by payment of the usual admission fee.

MARRIED ENTIRE CHINN FAMILY

Commander Walker Declares That is Secret of His Domestic Difficulties

Newport, R. I., Nov. 13.—The whole trouble was that I married the entire Chinn family," said Commander Walker today under cross examination in the suit for divorce brought by Nina Chinn Walker. Both Mrs. Chinn and her husband had a bad influence on my wife, and interfered with me and my affairs.

"When we were living in Brookline while I was at the Charleston navy yard, the Chins hired a house near us, and were in and about my house more than my own. It has always been too much for me in law."

After telling of how he first met the correspondent, Mabel Coghnan, who was a waitress in a Boston restaurant where Mr. Walker took his noon meals he went on to say that he

The month of February, 1866, was in one respect the most remarkable in the world's history. It had no full moon. January had two, full moons and so had March, but February had none. Do you realize what a rare thing in nature it was? It had not occurred since the creation of the world. And it will not occur again, according to the computation of the astronomers, for 2,500,000 years.

BULLET PIERCES GIRL'S HEAD

Boston Miss Went to Watch
Fight and Was Ordered Away.

Boston, Nov. 13.—Little Mary Joyce, 12, was shot to death today because she did not move fast enough at the command of two boys. The police are searching for Christopher Harris, aged 14, and Thomas Foley, aged 16, both of whom were armed with revolvers. Which of them did the shooting is uncertain.

Two other boys quarreled in the street and started in an open field to "fight it out." Mary Joyce and other children went with them. Harris and Foley, perched on a fence, brandished revolvers, the police say, shouting "get out of here or we'll shoot."

The frightened children bolted for the street, the Joyce girl at the rear. Twice they heard an ominous hammer click, as if a weapon had missed fire; then a shot rang out and Mary Joyce dropped with a bullet in the head.

OFFICERS MAY HAVE TO WEAR UNIFORMS

Secretary Garrison asked yesterday opinions from War Department officials on the suggestion that army officers on duty at the department wear their uniforms. The question has been up several times in the last decade. For a brief period fifteen years ago the officers wore uniforms.

CASTOR OIL IS TASTELESS NOW

A Remarkable Step Forward in Oil Refining.

Pure, clear, castor oil, without taste, or smell, is a recent discovery of the house of Spencer Kellogg & Sons, refiners of vegetable oils.

The Kellogg Mills take away the nauseating taste, but remove none of the good properties of castor oil.

As Kellogg's Castor Oil is merely a purified Castor Oil, it works better than the evil-tasting, evil-smelling, dose of the past and does not upset the stomach. Children take it easily.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil has been supplied to all druggists, not in bulk, but in neat 25c and 50c bottles. It is necessary to ask for Kellogg's by name to distinguish it from disguised castor oil, flavored with peppermint and other strong essences. The trademark label bears a green castor leaf, with the signature, Kellogg's.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., oil refiners.

TRAFFIC TIED UP IN SOUTHWEST

Nearly 2500 Trainmen and Engineers Go on Strike and Serious Consequences Expected.

Houston, Tex., Nov. 13.—Approximately 2500 trainmen and engineers on the Atlantic division of the Southern Pacific railroad, known as the Sunset Lines, went on strike at seven tonight, in accordance with an ultimatum presented to the officials of the road yesterday by a committee representing the four union organizations involved. The walkout comes after more than six months of futile negotiations which sought an amicable adjustment of difficulties between the company and the men.

An eleventh hour appeal to the federal board of mediation and conciliation by the railroad failed to stop the walkout and with engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen idle from El Paso to New Orleans, the southwest tonight faces the possibility of one of the most serious tie-ups of traffic in years.

Railroad officials were silent tonight as to what efforts were being made to relieve the situation, but reports from other points indicated preparations were being made for the coming of strikebreakers. All trains due to leave terminal points after seven tonight were annulled until further notice. Those leaving before that time, it was stated by union officials, will complete their runs, after which their crews will join the other strikers.

Walkout Done Quietly

Locally the lockout was accomplished. Promptly at seven, yard crews left their trains and as other trains reached the yards their crews ceased work. Similar conditions were reported all over the Sunset Central lines which embraces a total of 2400 miles of track.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors and Order of Railway Trainmen are involved in the strike. The men claim they are unable to secure a satisfactory settlement of a list of 67 grievances or to enforce observance of their contracts through their respective organizations, and when they combined their forces President W. H. Scott and General Manager G. S. Wald of the Sunset Central declined to meet the joint committee. Then a referendum strike was taken. It proved overwhelmingly affirmative.

The grievances include the question of wages, alleged violation of contract by the railroad and various personal complaints.

YOUR HAIR MAY BE YOUR FORTUNE

Beautiful hair has made the fortune of many a woman, by adding charm and liveness to an otherwise plain face. Nothing means more to good looks than beautiful hair. It adds to the attractiveness of every feature. Without it you can't be beautiful; with it you will be at least pretty.

To have beautiful hair use Harmony Hair Beautifier. It will improve the beauty of your hair taking away the dull harshness and stringiness, softening and polishing every hair in your head and making it soft, silky, glossy, easier to put up and keep in place, and at the same time giving it a rich and lasting rose fragrance that will delight both you and those around you.

Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo, gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed on just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments.

Both preparations come in odd shaped very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier $1.00. Harmony Shampoo 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way or your money back. JAMES HAZEN HYDE TO MARRY COUNTESS.

Former Prominent New York Resident, Now of Paris, Engaged to Countess Gontaut-Biron.

Paris, Nov. 13.—The engagement was announced today at Countess Louise de Gontaut-Biron, formerly Marthe Lelshman, eldest daughter of John G. Lelshman, formerly American ambassador to Germany, to James Hazen Hyde, at one time prominent in New York, but who has lived in Paris for some years. The wedding, probably will take place within a few weeks. Countess de Gontaut-Biron died on Dec. 12, 1907. James Hazen Hyde was formerly vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in which he owned a controlling interest inherited from his father, Henry R. Hyde, founder of the society. Mr. Hyde went to Paris in 1907 shortly after the insurance investigation of 1905, and sold out his interest in the company after the public of 1907.

The engagement of the countess recalls that she was among the guests at the recent marriage in Geneva of Miss Nancy Lelshman to the Duke of Croix.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Its Religious and Healing Elements
--By Bliss Knapp, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

At Freeman's Hall on Thursday evening Bliss Knapp, C. S. B., of Boston, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, delivered a lecture on Christian Science before a good sized audience. His remarks were as follows:

Not in controversy of law but in fulfillment thereof, did the man of Galilee announce himself and forthwith present the only perfect system of healing known to humanity—a system which no one can improve, but one that should be understood by all. The method employed was by mental or spiritual prayer. Consequently the only perfect system of healing must be mental in all fulfillment of law. The mission of Christian Science has been to present the meaning of explanation of the Christ law with such comprehensive simplicity as to effect a return of Christian healing.

In all that Jesus did he made it clear that the power he employed was not of himself. He specifically declared: "The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do." His ability, therefore, to obliterate disease and sin was the result of what he actually knew about God, the Father of all. When he thought that some understanding of God in his disciples, they were able to perpetuate his healing ministry. Indeed Christian healing was continued for a period of three hundred years after the time of Jesus. The ability of a Christian Scientist to heal the sick and standing through prayer, is wholly due to a better understanding of God, who in the divine Principle of man's existence. This is in agreement with the Scriptural command, "Acquaint now thyself with him with the power of his name, and thou shalt be healed of all thine iniquities." One who is distressed either in mind or body is not at peace. Nevertheless acquaintance with the divine nature endows one with the peculiar intelligence which inspires him with the power of peace, and therefore rids out all disturbance, whether mental or physical. Therefore do you have presented in the briefest possible statement the precise method of Christian healing—acquaintance with divine nature. How then shall we acquaint ourselves with God?

Divine Acquaintance

One of the earliest ways of gaining an insight into the realm of God was given by Moses in the Ten Commandments. He led people to thing of the divine nature as manifested through a form, but through well defined laws. Industry has its origin in thinking of God as a form. When men undertook to fashion what they might conceive the precise form of God to be they became thereby idolatrous, against which we have the second commandment of the Decalogue, no divine principle, manifesting the power, intelligence, and loving kindness through well defined laws. He can be understood.

Jesus declared his relationship to this same law in his sermon on the Mount. For there he said: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy but to fulfill." Having said this he undertook to teach this law, not so much intellectually, as by a direct appeal to one's moral or spiritual nature. Not that intellectual training should be disapproved; far on the contrary the right sort of training is necessary for the proper conduct of everyday affairs. But the one thing of special importance in this connection is the fact that Jesus addressed himself, not so much to the intellect of the disciples as he did to the spiritual faculties. To their natural consciousness and spiritual aspirations. He recognized that one who has never enjoyed the advantages of an education may have spiritual faculties as well developed, if not outbalancing those of a student. This is evidenced in a little child. He has not had time to develop his intellect. Nevertheless he has well developed himself to one's spiritual faculties, that gentle Nazarene was able to impart to the humble fishermen the actual understanding of divine law—an understanding that endowed them with the power of divinity to heal sickness and sin. Herein do we serve an understanding to which we referred, when he said, "There is a spirit in man; and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." It is the spiritual understanding which which we gain through the exercise of the spiritual faculties. In prayer that acquaints us with the nature of God and endows us with the power of peace into healing and salvation.

Right Desires

If an individual is able to believe that he has no faculty for apprehending spiritual law, he is checked. In Christian Science by the sweet assurance that men are actively and inherently spiritual. They are so as children. Indeed it is impossible for one by the process of education to lead himself entirely away from that native spiritual sense. Even the supposedly wicked man may know God, and be saved from his evil ways. This is not a mere high sounding theory, for it is a familiar saying that no one is wholly bad, for there must be at least a spark of goodness in him. Suppose then, that you address yourself to some very wicked man and ask him if he has ever experienced the desire to be better and do better; that he really desired to be good? Few will deny that there have been periods when they have entertained such desires. Where do these desires or longings come from? What is their origin? Do they originate with the individual? No. They must have their origin in the infinity of good, and that to us means God—even as Jesus declared, "None is good save one, that is God." Infinite good is the source and activity of right desires that inspire the individual consciousness such as honesty, tenderness, loving-kindness and so on. As one experiences these right desires, yields his obedience to them, and looks in their direction, he is looking towards God; but that is not so much a bodily movement as it is a state of consciousness. Indeed, a state of spiritual consciousness.

If, on the other hand, the individual believes himself to be the originator of his goodness—that it is a mere personal possession humanly circumscribed—it could not be good, and would not therefore be good but evil. Some there are who really believe their goodness to be a personal possession, humanly circumscribed, and that is usually what is the matter with them; for they are invariably characterized by a tremendous degree of self-righteousness; and self-righteousness is the most heinous evil known to the human consciousness. Such a sense of ownership or control over a divine quality gives rise to the belief that man can be separate from God—that he can lose his goodness and fall and suffer the direful consequences thereof; but the entire situation is the result of a mistaken or false belief.

Job's Revelation

This may be illustrated by the experiences of Job. According to the record in the book of Job, the sons of God came to present themselves before God, and Satan came also. When asked where he came from Satan replied, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it." Surely that is not so much a locality as a fluctuating wave or error. However, it is to be noted that Satan presumed upon the notion that Job's goodness was a form of selfishness—that it was a personal desire expressed merely for the hope of a reward were to be withdrawn, Job would curse God to his face. Satan declared, in other words, that Job's goodness was a mere personal sense with himself, a form of selfishness, a mixture of good and evil; that the question arises as to whether that was a correct charge. Permission was granted to make a trial of his charge, to prove whether he was good merely for the sake of a reward.

The first trial or temptation was the destruction of Job's property, but that had no disturbing effect on his goodness. Next his children were destroyed, but that did not change his divine purpose to be good. Finally the trial was made more personal. Job was afflicted with grievous diseases which tormented him so sorely that his wife broke down under the stress of it. Job, however, stood fast; he was good just the same. The trial had been made; the proof was conclusive that Job's goodness was not entertained for the sake of a reward. It was proved to be as unchanging as God himself—a divine attribute that is reflected through all alike.

With the recognition of one good who is God, it naturally follows there can be but one goodness to express Him, which expression must characterize all alike. Indeed it is so pure and simple as to be recognized and obeyed by a child. The activity of that right desire in the consciousness of Job enabled him to look up through the law to its divine source and declare that "I see God." Those words are entirely in agreement with what Jesus himself later declared in the Sermon on the Mount, "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." Job therefore acquainted himself with the divine nature, not so much by the human intellect, as by the understanding of his goodness in its simple purity, as an attribute of God. Not only did it enable him to see God, but it endowed him with the power of God to heal and save himself. The healing power of God was actually communicated to his human consciousness through the law of goodness, scientifically understood. For example: The groping student of mathematics never goes directly to its basic meaning. He needs must go by way of its rules. The first task set for the beginner to do is to assimilate the meaning of the simplest rule into his understanding, and he reaches the basic meaning by way of its several rules. So it is that no one goes directly to infinite good. He must go by way of goodness, the law of God. As Job assimilated the simple meaning of goodness into his consciousness, he could look through the law to its divine Principle, and truthfully declare, "Yet in my flesh shall I see God." That acquaintance with the divine nature healed him, and showed forth the divine law as the communicator of God's healing power to the human consciousness.

One Honesty

Continuing this illustration, it may be said that honesty is not a personal possession, but a law or attribute of God, for there are not so many kinds of honesty as there are people. There is one honesty, which is a law or attribute of God reflected through all alike. Honor among thieves is far from being honor among honest men. Honor among thieves is but a subterfuge that has its basis in evil. Honor among honest men is honesty from Principle. Indeed, it is commonly said that a truly honest man must be honest from Principle. One who fails short of being honest from Principle has no power to resist temptation. For example: Suppose such an one were to be placed as a cashier in a bank, and submitted to a severe pressure of temptation to dishonesty. He has no power to resist it. But the man who is honest from Principle has the power of divinity to overcome the temptation. Indeed he can not go contrary to the power of its government. Therefore honesty from Principle communicates the divine power to overcome dishonesty, even as goodness from Principle communicates the divine power to overcome evil.

Health an Attribute of God

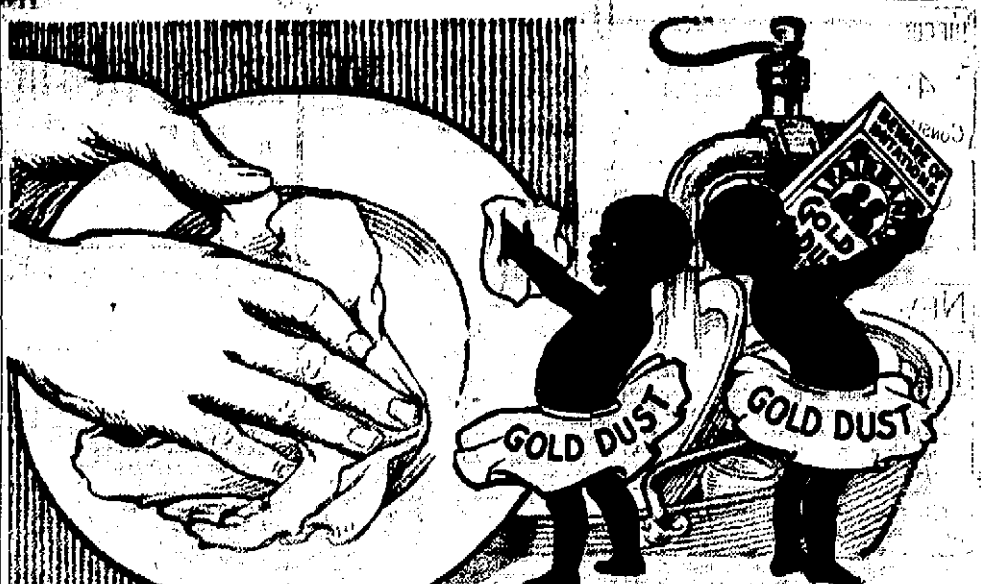

It is true that orthodox Christians severely accept this teaching as it relates to temptations of sin; but Christian Science accepts the same teaching as it relates to temptations of sickness. That is to say, we recognize that health is just as much a characteristic or attribute of God as are honesty and goodness, and therefore the individual makes the same mistake who believes that his health is a personal possession, as he does who believes that his goodness and honesty are personal possessions. We save our health through the recognition of its divinity—that it is the gift of God—and that God has no more purpose to withdraw it than He would honesty and goodness. God never died, nor is He ever sick. Indeed, it is unthinkable to conceive of a sick God. In fact, the characteristics or attributes of God must be and are life and health, as truly as they are goodness and honesty. Consequently, one's health can no more be destroyed or impaired than can God himself. If we seem to lose our health, it is not lost but merely hid; or, as explained in II Cor. 4:3, 4, "It is hid to them that are lost; in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not."

Who then is "the god of this world"? And the same Satan that tempted Job? And what of this mental blindness? Had Satan succeeded in beguiling Job into the notion that his goodness was a form of selfishness, he would have implanted a lie, that would have blinded Job in the fact of his goodness as an attribute of God. In that mental blindness he would have lost the healing power that was ever ready and waiting to be entertained through that divine acquaintance. The same Satan would tempt one to believe one's health is a mere personal possession or fleshly condition, rather than the gift or attribute of God; and we save our health as Job saved his goodness. The method is so naturally simple that the children and common people as readily grasp its meaning and consequent healing today as when taught by two gentle Nazarenes.

Mrs. Eddy's Discovery

The first case of healing that led to the discovery of Christian Science was an accident which those about her considered must result fatally. Undaunted by the weight of so great a fear, the effort of self-preservation turned her naturally from the contentment of her extremity to seek comfort in her Bible. Always a devout student of the Bible, it was but natural that she should turn to its inspired pages for comfort, consolation or hope of relief. But there, stripped of all material aid, she became imbued with a dawning ray of spiritual reality. She began to recognize that health is not a fleshly condition to be lost or impaired, but rather the gift of God, as imperishable as God himself. In that she recognized what constitutes the immortality of man—that while every Christian admits and believes, but she saw in it as present a possibility as are goodness and honesty, and she was instantly healed. That was in the year 1886. She could then say with Paul, "the law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

It was indeed a wonderful experience, and coming so quickly, Mrs. Eddy experienced considerable difficulty in explaining it to those about her. Then she recognized that she never could explain it properly until she more thoroughly understood its Principle and rule of operation. In the effort to learn the explanation of her own healing, she resumed her search in the Bible and continued learn more of the spiritual meaning of the Bible that she might impart it to the world, and to its great advantage.

Opposing Mentalities.

Although it is generally admitted that Christian Science heals both sick and sin by a mental process, only 90 per cent of the popular misconception concerning it relates to the mental quality that heals. Some mistake it for the human will, others suggestion, and they are the polar opposites of Christian Science. We need therefore to recognize with Paul two types of mind, "for to be carnally minded, says Paul, is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." How then shall one differentiate between the carnal and the spiritual? From the viewpoint of such divine laws as honesty and goodness; for the carnal mind has said "Thy law is the truth." Moreover, "My fruits I shall know them." Some of the fruits of the carnal mind are the human will suggestion, anger, malice, persecution, evil criticism and so on. These are continually at war with the fruits of the spirit, which are goodness, honesty, health, joy, a pure affection and so on. The laws or attributes of God eternally link man to God; they communicate the power of God to the human consciousness, and make for life and peace.

Carnal Mind Discredited

As the attributes of God have been analyzed to indicate the operation of the spiritual mind, so must we analyze briefly some of the characteristics of the carnal mind, that we may thereby differentiate more accurately between them. Jealousy, for example, is a characteristic of the carnal mind. It is always the result of ignorance of some sort, and never should be indulged. It never can know the truth about anything. Again, dishonesty always leaves the mark of ignorance. A dishonest man cannot know whether another man is really honest. It is largely guesswork with him. Like most selfish men, he invariably suspects others of his own baseness, often unjustly. Only an honest man can really know whether another man is honest. To illustrate: Suppose you are in need of an employee. You advertise in the morning paper, and a half dozen men may respond. In looking them over, you may recognize one man in the group to be thoroughly honest. But how do you know? You may say that you can see it in his countenance. But what is it that enables you to discern the honesty expressed in a man's face? Can you describe it or tell what it looks like? Yet you are sure you can discern it; but how? Do you observe it with your eyes? Even our physiologists teach that it is not the eye that sees, but rather the mind back of the eye. It is not the ear that hears, but rather the mind back of the ear. Is it not, therefore, the mind or intelligence expressed through honesty in yourself that enables you to recognize the corresponding quality expressed in another? The Scripture declares, concerning God, "In thy light shall we see light." Honesty is spiritual light that lights up the countenance, where as it may be intelligently recognized. It is positive intelligence. Dishonesty on the other hand, is negative, non-intelligence. Thus we might continue in the analysis of the characteristics of the carnal mind and we could prove them all to be negative, non-intelligence. The carnal mind, however, assumes to be intelligent, even as Satan pretended to intelligence concerning Job's goodness; but it is destitute of intelligence. It also claims to be honest.

est. Indeed it pretends to be the same mind that Jesus employed to heal; but Jesus said of this carnal mind, "It is a liar, and the father of it." Since a lie is untrue, it must be in its ultimate analysis unreal. That is why it can never be understood. The realist asks the question, "Who can understand his errors?" Nobody can. That only can be understood which is true. No one can understand an error that may be introduced into a mathematical problem, and no intelligent person will try. Rather will he seek more thoroughly to understand the rule of truth that governs the problem and to act in obedience thereto. Whereupon the error disappears. But where? Into his native nothingness. That is why Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, not the error, and the truth shall make you free." Whatever is destitute of truth and of understanding, is necessarily mindless—lacking in the very qualities that characterize mind or intelligence. Hence the so-called carnal mind is no mind at all.

Suggestion

An extraordinary claim of the carnal mind is to project itself through suggestion, to become more insistent only to the degree they are believed or indulged by the individual. Consequently he alone endows them with all the seeming power they ever had. Psychology has seized upon this made operation, as peculiar to the carnal mind, and developed its suggestions into various systems. Some of these systems have been called hypnotic suggestion, vibratory suggestion, auto-suggestion, therapeutic suggestion, psycho-therapeutics, and even so-called Christian psychology. They are all conceded to be the operation of the human will or vibratory suggestion—the product of the carnal mind whose basis is a lie. Anciently these systems of suggestion were employed by the magicians, astrologers and necromancers. It is a matter of record that these magicians and sorcerers were continually at war with Moses, Daniel and the early Christians, even as the representatives of these modern systems of suggestion are continually at war with Christian Science. And why? Because they are the product of the carnal mind; and the Scriptures declare that the carnal mind is "enmity against God." By reason of its peculiar operation, one may determine with accuracy the nature of his thoughts, whether they are good or evil; for evil operates through suggestion and appeals to the nerves; the power of God is expressed through the divine attributes and appeals to the intelligence or reason. And "Know ye now, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness."

Jesus repudiated the use of human will, for he said, "I can of mine own self do nothing; . . . because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father." We might repeat those words and substitute honesty for an added meaning: "I can of mine own self do nothing; . . . because I seek not mine own sense of honesty, but the honesty of the Father, from Principle." It is only that honesty from Principle that has the spiritual power to overcome dishonesty. It is only that goodness from Principle that has the spiritual power to overcome evil. It is only that Mind or will of God, the divine Principle,—that has the spiritual power to overcome sickness and disease. Christ Jesus specifically declared that he used or employed only that will or Mind which is God,—the polar opposite of suggestion. Christians are, moreover, enjoined by the Scriptures to "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

One Mind.

Job declared concerning God, "Thou art in one Mind;" and Jesus recognized but one Mind,—the Mind which is God. He referred to Him as "My God and your God." He is therefore my Mind and your Mind; He is my life and your life; my honesty and your honesty; my intelligence and your intelligence; for, as Paul says, "In Him we live and move and have our being." Endowed with that "mind which was also in Christ Jesus," we may fulfill the scriptural injunction "be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." Some might say, however, "If good will overcome evil, so will evil overcome good." But that is not true, for the reason that good and evil are not alike. They bear precisely the same relation to one another as do intelligence and non-intelligence, as do the positive and negative, as do light and darkness. Intelligence will destroy non-intelligence, but non-intelligence can never destroy intelligence. So it is that light destroys darkness, but darkness cannot destroy light,—cannot as much as put out a lighted candle,—and it matters not whether a room has been maintained in darkness five minutes of fifty years, the light will dispel the darkness with the same ease. In like manner, it matters not whether an individual has been maintained in the darkness of despair and disease five minutes or fifty years, the light of spiritual intelligence will dispel it with the same ease. It will illuminate thought in conscious strength in the good to rule out evil.

Sin Not of God.

Jesus employed the term sin in over one hundred places in the four Gospels, and in each case the corresponding word in the Greek manuscripts is hamartia. The first meaning imputed to this word hamartia is to miss the mark, as in the throwing of a spear. The Greeks were much given to the enjoyment of athletic games, and if one were to hurl a spear and miss the mark, he committed hamartia,—the same word which Jesus employed or sin. So it is with archery. When a man pulls his bow and shoots his arrow if he fails to hit the mark he has transgressed the laws of archery or committed hamartia. Even so sin is the transgression of the divine law, and it is so defined by our lexicons.

What is it that would make a man transgress the laws of archery? Is it not his ignorance or lack of practice? And what is sin but the result of "ignorance or disobedience of the divine law? No educated person could transgress the simple law that two and two are four, for he not only understands it but practices it, and he will tell the child that his errors are not in the mathematical law nor of that law; that mathematical law knows nothing of mistakes but deals them, even as intelligence deals ignorance. So it is that sin is not in the divine law nor of the divine law. God never visited a man with sin. God not only is not the author of sin, but He never afflicted a man with it, for as the prophet Habakkuk has said, "Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and cannot look on iniquity." Sin is the transgression of God's law, the result of ignorance, fear or willfulness. When therefore Jesus came to fulfill the law and to teach the understanding of it, he was removing the possibility of sin; and incidentally the wages of sin.

Disease Mental.

Christian Science presents the understanding of the Christ law with such simplicity and accuracy that even the children and young people readily gain its spiritual meaning which liberates them from suffering and sin of every sort. That is based on the recognition that disease in its cause is mental. Consumption, for example, is considered by many to be an incurable disease. It is generally conceded that no known drug or medicine can heal consumption, especially in its advanced stages. Therefore the usual method of today is to resort to what is known as the nature cure; outdoor life, exercise, and pure air are resorted to in the hope of "beating the white plague, as it is called. It is moreover generally conceded that consumption is largely a consuming fear and manifestly no drug or medicine can cure fear. Physicians readily admit the element of fear in nearly all disease, especially contagion. When a frightened child rushes to the arms of its mother she instinctively employs the proper remedy. He does not rush for a medicine bottle. Rather does she soothe and comfort the child in his fear by her tender love and pure affection. The enduring affection that a mother entertains for her child, and that wipes out his childish fears, should point us to a greater love—even the God who is Love. The Bible declares that "fear hath torment;" "perfect love casteth out fear." There is no known remedy for fear save only the tenderness and compassion of unselfed Love. It is that understanding of God as divine Love that enables the Christian Scientist to wipe out the fear of consumption and to remove its physical effects. On the same basis Christian Science heals cancer, tumors, pneumonia, locomotor ataxia, etc.—and heals them permanently.

A Surgeon's Testimony.

The question has been frequently asked, "How can some inanimate drug know just where to go and what to do?" An eminent surgeon once said to my hearing that "No drug, medicine, or physician ever healed anything." That is a remarkable statement, and might appear meaningless if uttered by some. The gentleman is, nevertheless, a practicing surgeon, examining physician for a large life insurance concern, and also instructor in physiology and hygiene in a well-known American university. Moreover, the declaration was made before a legislative committee on public health at the Massachusetts State House. A physician on this committee promptly challenged the declaration; whereupon the surgeon invited citations, and the committee cited appendicitis and pneumonia. "Two very good cases," remarked the surgeon, "Now let us suppose the case of a man said to be suffering from appendicitis. He may be operated on, his appendix cut out, and after a time he may recover; but he isn't healed, because he no longer has an appendix, and he ought to have one. So it is with pneumonia. He continues, "No drug, medicine, or physician can heal it. We may assist the situation in helping to absorb the accumulation that appears; but we never can stop the accumulation nor heal the disease. If it is healed at all, it is nature that does the healing." A strange as it may seem, the physician had nothing to say. He could not fail to recognize the great truth, that it is not the drug but nature that heals.

What is Nature?

What then is nature? It cannot be a thing in and of itself. It must characterize or be the nature of something else. Jesus said, according to the revised version of the Bible, "God is Spirit," and the nature of Spirit must be spiritual. It is spiritual nature that heals. But we cannot afford to wait blindly on nature to heal. The silly non-sense of trying to imagine one's self to be well, while one is suffering will not bring a recovery. We may but turn to the man who, in his great extremity, cried out to Jesus, "Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief." There one may recognize the utter helplessness of a blind faith; but Jesus and his disciples with their understanding, had dominion over all. Therefore the Christian Scientist proceeds directly to the hold of the actual understanding of the same spiritual nature that Jesus taught and demonstrated. Whereupon clothed with spiritual understanding, he may apply it intelligently to the specific case, and the sick and the suffering are healed quickly and wholly.

Conclusion.

Therefore, in leaving this subject I would commend to your further consideration that Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," whose whose only purpose is to unlock the spiritual meaning of the Bible that we gain, not through the human intellect, but through the exercise of spiritual faculties, rising to the recognition of God as absolute good, as the author of only that which is good and real and positive and immortal. Imbued with spiritual understanding we may demonstrate today the same divine law in life, liberty and salvation. It gives us that spiritual dominion which God gave to man from the beginning—that dominion which has never been withdrawn. Christian Science presents the spiritual understanding in such a way that it may be applied from the very outset with the more simple problems. Such fruits of Christian Science, spread over a period of nearly half a century, have done more to change the thought of the world to higher ideals than any religious statement or teaching of modern times. They have challenged attention to the fact that spiritual teaching improves the health as well as the morals of men. Such divine characteristics as health and life, which proceed from God and are reflected through man, can no more be annulled, disintegrated, or destroyed.

Lung Trouble Yielded to This Medicine

If you are suffering with Lung Trouble, or if you know of some unfortunate person who is, do not despair. You take the trouble of fully investigating a medicine which has brought about complete recovery in a number of very serious cases. To Dr. J. C. Allen's Alternative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Trouble, has been given the fullest credit of restoring health in a large number of cases. Read this: "Gentlemen: In the winter of 1908 I had a severe attack of Lung Trouble, followed by Pneumonia, and later by Lung Trouble. In the winter of 1909 I had cough, night sweats, fever and chills, and was unable to do any work. I had many hemorrhages at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so disgusting that I could not eat them. Three physicians treated me, I was ordered to the mountains, but did not get better. Dr. J. C. Allen's Alternative was recommended to me. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I was able to get about, and my weight and appetite increased. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am now well and happy." (Address: Dr. J. C. Allen, 1001 Broadway, New York City.)
